MAGNIFICENT DIAMOND RING WORTH $300 THE SPECIAL PERIOD PRIZE

Neck and neck are the leaders in the Review-International-Star $5000 popularity contest. Others are in a bunch and close up. There are only four weeks in which to determine the winners. The time is great enough too, and some of the contestants are wishing that they could be pronounced winners before the eventful day, May 14th, when the big contest will be brought to a close.

As the days go by the interest is waxing hotter; there is a wholesome rivalry between the districts and a spirit of generous emulation between the individual contestants. Every reader of the three papers, the Review, the International and the Star, is interested. Editorials and news are often glanced over hurriedly. "Who is leading in the ball game" is hastily passed up, and the leaders in the contest command the attention.

The big prize for this week is a beautiful diamond ring which will be awarded to the contestant making the greatest vote gain during the week ending April 23rd in all three districts. This elegant ring is on display at Henkel's Jewelry store. Now is the time, therefore, to pile up the votes and be the winner of this period prize as well as totaling a score that will count on the final when the automobiles, pianos and trips and scholarships will be awarded to the victors.

If the fortunate young lady winning the diamond ring had from the Tucson or Douglas district, the contestant in the Bisbee district making the greatest vote gain this week will win a bracelet on display at the store of Decker & Phelps. If, however, the successful fortunate young lady be a resident of the second district, then both the diamond and the bracelet will go to the first and second young ladies of the second district.

At the Orpheum theatre drawing last night, Mr. Chase Wylchewer held the winning number which was turned over to Miss Isabelle Riley.

The following is the standing of the contestants this morning:

JEFFRIES IS FEELING IN GREAT CONDITION

GOOD NEWS FROM SICK WIFE
PUTS LIFE INTO THE TRAINING
YESTERDAY.

BEN LOMOND, April 16.—General air of good feeling and relief pervaded in the Jeffries training camp this afternoon. With the news of a successful operation on Mrs. Jeffries the fighter worked with a vim which he had not shown since he became of his training. He put in two hours in the gymnasium, going through his entire routine of training exercise with the exception of boxing. The only rough work of the day was a wrestling bout with Farmer Burns, when the two heavyweights engaged in a fast mill of mauling and tussling. The farmers wrist was slightly injured by a vigorous twist by the bellringer, but was soon restored by brisk massage.

Before beginning work this afternoon, Jeffries said he felt better than at any time since taking up training. He says he has overcome the tendency to drink too much water after lunch, and is feeling better on this account. Sunday will be another holiday. Jeffries will go to Santa Cruz, where he will inaugurate the baseball season by pitching the first ball. His nephew, Ted Boyer, will play on the Santa Cruz team. Joe Chownski is expected to arrive Monday, and a regular boxing routine will be begun then. The plans to increase the daily amount of sparring next week, and the schedule will be lengthened to six rounds instead of the usual three.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Johnson did twelve miles of road work today and spent some time playing ball until rain interfered. Quick changes in the weather here prevent any really serious work by the colored champion, as he wishes to avoid taking cold.

THE WEATHER.

For Arizona—Fair, warmer Sunday; Monday, fair.

POEMS OPEN THE BARS OF PRISON

YOUNG ENGLISHMAN OF GENIUS
FREED IN MINNESOTA BY PAR-DON BOARD.

ST. PAUL, April 16.—A young Englishman known as "John Carter" who has served half of a ten years' sentence for burglary and who has attracted wide attention because of his poetic genius, was given his freedom by the state pardon board. Carter will be released from the Stillwater prison Monday, his 24th birthday anniversary. Carter has been unpardonable for technical reasons, but the board ordered a commutation of his sentence. The plans were made by Judge Willis, Rev. L. R. Ferguson of St. Paul and telegrams and letters were read before the board from Robert U. Johnson, editor of the Century. The young poet admits Carter is not his name and says he is an Englishman of good family but would not divulge his identity.

Carter was less than twenty years old when the crime was committed. His father was in the asylum, and "John," who had been working in the bank, did not like the confinement, and was sent to Canada by his family who were in straightened circumstances to learn farming. Unable to secure work, Carter started "beating" his way from Winnipeg to St. Paul, but in the night was put off at Carlsbad, Minn. Having nothing to eat for thirty-six hours, Carter broke into the railroad station and stole $24 and a silver watch. He was captured and pleaded guilty.

BERGER'S NARROW ESCAPE.
WATSONVILLE, April 16.—Sam Berger, manager of Jim Jeffries, narrowly escaped serious injury in an automobile accident. While passing from here to Salinas to referee a prize fight tonight, the large car in which Berger and several friends were riding collided with a telegraph pole. The machine was wrecked and the occupants thrown out. The chauffeur was taken to a hospital, but Berger and other members of the party escaped with bruises. Another automobile was secured and the party continued on its way to Salinas.

ROOSEVELT THE HONORED GUEST OF AN EMPEROR

Francis Joseph of Austria-

in Honor of the

BRILLIANT ARRAY OF NOBLE GUESTS

High Prelate of Catholic Church
Calls With a Message
From Pope

VIENNA, April 16.—The Emperor's dinner at the Imperial palace, at Schoenbrunn tonight constituted the concluding official function of Roosevelt's visit to the Austrian capital. As the hour for the dinner was set for 6 o'clock, Roosevelt and Kermit, in evening dress, left their hotel in the court carriage half an hour earlier arriving at the entrance of the palace, a court official met and escorted them up a broad flight of stairs, where according to court etiquette at Imperial dinners, Count Bellegard, master of the kitchen, was waiting. He conducted them to the "Mirror Room," where the other guests were assembled. As the ex-president and his son reached the threshold, the doors on opposite side were thrown open and the Emperor, wearing uniform of a field marshal advanced and met the guests of the evening.

After the greeting, Roosevelt presented Kermit and in a few minutes the Emperor, with the ex-president on the left, led the way through spacious apartments to what is called "The Smaller Gallery," a white gala apartment, where small court dinners are usual given. The gallery overlooks an exquisite garden, in the center of which is a marble fountain constantly playing. Thirty-five additional guests were at the dinner, including Count von Aehrenthal, foreign minister; Baron Huria von Rajecz, Austrian minister of finance; Gen. Franz Sebebach, Austro-Hungarian minister of war; Baron von Bismarck, Austrian premier; Baron Henckell, von Henckell, the Austrian ambassador to the United States; Prince Palafy, court chamberlain of Hungary; Count Kinsky, master of the horse and other high officials of the Emperor's household; the American ambassador, Richard C. Kerens, members of the American Embassy Dr. Kerl, the majesty body physician.

With the exception of the Americans, the guests were in full court uniform. Roosevelt sat at the Emperor's right and Kerens at his left, while Kermit was removed nine places from his father, occupying a position between Count Cholonevsky, Myzka, grand master of ceremonies, and Baron Schiele von Perstorff, the director of the chancellery cabinet. Throughout the dinner, which comprised twelve courses and eight wines of rare vintage, the band of the Thirty-second Infantry played in the gallery, rendering selections of Strauss. The service was of silver and white gold china, with the Imperial eagle in gold borders. Still following the ceremonial of private dinners, distinguished from gala state banquets, formal toasts were given. The dinner occupied precisely one hour, and upon arising from the table, the party returned to the mirror room, where what is known as the "circle" was followed, during which the Emperor personally made the round of his guests. His leave taking of the former president was exceedingly cordial.

From the palace Col Roosevelt and Kermit drove direct to the Imperial opera, where they occupied the court box for a sort time during the second act of the "Barber of Seville." The house was crowded in anticipation of the ex-president's presence and he was given a hearty reception. They drove from the opera to the American embassy, where an informal reception to the American colony was arranged. Roosevelt will leave for Buda Pest at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning, a special car having been placed at his service. He will be met by Count Apponyi, at Pressburg, and will proceed by automobile to spend the day with the count at his castle at Eberhart. He will resume his journey at 6:30 in the evening, arriving at Buda Pest three hours later.

What is regarded as a complete sequel to the Vatican incident occurred when Mr. Granville Di Belmonte Pignatelli, the papal nuncio, accredited to the Austrian court, in the full ecclesiastical vestments of his office, visited the ex-president.

MARISCAL, THE AGED MEXICAN DIPLOMAT DIES

Foremost Statesman of the Republic and for Thirty Years
Head of Foreign Relations,
Suddenly Stricken.

MEXICO CITY, April 16.—Ignacio Mariscal, Mexico's foremost diplomat and for more than thirty years head of the department of foreign relations, died suddenly today of phlebotomy. The funeral will be held tomorrow. President Diaz, Vice President Obal and members of cabinet will act as honorary pall bearers. The body will be buried in the French cemetery here beside his wife, who died nine years ago. She was Miss Laura Smith of Washington, D. C. Mariscal leaves four daughters.

Following the death notifications were at once sent to diplomatic corps. Flags were flown at half mast over foreign legations. Messages of sorrow over the passing away of the aged statesman were received all day. During his eventful life, Mariscal had been identified with all important affairs in the last half century of Mexico's history. His political life began with his appointment to the federal congress by the state of Oaxaca, followed by his appointment to the attorneyship of the federal government, and to the task of carrying out the laws of forfeiture in connection with church property.

So great was the confidence of President Pablo in Mariscal that during the Maximilian period he sent him to Washington to handle the delicate situation growing out of the Monroe doctrine. Mariscal was born in Oaxaca, the birthplace of President Diaz. He was a member of congress when the present constitution of Mexico was adopted in 1857. A few years later he entered the diplomatic service of his country, and in 1869 went to Washington as first secretary of the Mexican legation. He was made a minister in 1872. He was appointed minister to Great Britain in 1874, having served as a special envoy to that country the previous year. Upon the election of Diaz to the presidency in 1876, Mariscal was made minister of foreign affairs, which office he continued to fill since, with the exception of the four years of presidency of General Gonzalez. That Enrique C. Cuel, governor of Chihuahua, will be named successor of Mariscal as minister of foreign relations is regarded here as probable.

HEAVY SNOW IN MINNESOTA.

WINONA, Minn., April 16.—Southern Minnesota and South Dakota are under several inches of snow tonight
as the result of a snow storm that lasted throughout the day. Farther north it is reported the snowfall averaged eight inches.

The paper nuncio and Roosevelt talked together twenty minutes, but what transpired is impossible to state, as both subsequently declined to give information. It is assumed that generally the Vatican incident was discussed, the nuncio being the bearer of a message from the Pope.

COAST POLE VAULT RECORD IS BROKEN

STANFORD UNIVERSITY MAN
SETS NEW MARK AND WINS
FOR TEAM.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 16.—When Captain Leland Stanford Scott, of the Stanford track team, just at sunset today cleared the bar at 12 feet, 6 1/8 inches, he established a new coast record for the pole vault and won a victory for his team in the seventeenth annual field meet between Stanford and California universities.

Six thousand persons gathered at the Stanford oval to witness one of the best field days ever held on this coast. In four coast inter-collegiate records were broken. Edwards and Donald of California ran a dead heat in the final of the 120 yard hurdles in collegiate record. Stanford then scored a record when Wyman, in the 440 yard, broke the inter-collegiate record breaking the tape at .50 flat.

Edwards scored his second record by running 220 yards low hurdles in 25.1. Kreitzberg by jumping 22 feet, 10 3/4 inches, set a new record in the broad jump.

WRECKED VICTIM SLAND.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Passengers and crew of the wrecked steamer Santa Clara which was deserted off Table bluff after it sprang a leak while crossing the Humboldt bay, arrived in this city today with the steamer F. A. Kilburn. Although many passengers lost their belongings and suffered hardships in a thrilling experience at sea none escaped any the worse for the mishap.

HUMBOLDT SMELTER RESUMES.

PRESCOTT, Ariz., April 16.—Humboldt smelter, after being idle three years resumed operations today, a year having been spent in reconstruction on the plant. The Prescott Electric company and gas system sold today to the Arizona Power company and the Telephone system was absorbed by the Consolidated Telephone company with headquarters at Tucson of which Epes andolph is President.

GEORGIA TORNADO DAMAGES.

MANCHESTER, Ga., April 16.—Woodland, nine miles from Manchester experienced a destructive tornado in which practically every house in the town was damaged. A number of persons are reported seriously injured. No traces of the storm were felt here.

TWO BANQUETS FOR TAFT.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Taft attended two banquets and made two speeches tonight, but partook of neither feast. After addressing the bankers he joined with his Washington fellow alumni of the Phi Upsilon fraternity in their annual dinner. The president was in a merry mood at both dinners. At each he discussed the hardships of a president's life and at the Phi Upsilon banquet declared one term was enough for him but he seemed, however, to be speaking in a Pickwickian sense.

FINNEY UNDER HARD GRILL IN PINCHOT PROBE

Employee of Interior Department
Is Made Unhappy on Stand
By Sharp Questions of Attorney.

CROSS EXAMINATION
RESUMES MONDAY

Witness From Alaska About
Collier's Weekly Will Be
On Stand Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, April 16.—E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the Interior, occupied the stand throughout both sessions of the Ballinger-Pinchot hearing. Most of the time was taken up in cross examinations by Brande's representing Louis R. Glavis and attorney Pepper, chief counsel for Pinchot. Because of his long service in the Interior department, Finney proved a prolific witness, in that Brande's was enabled to get into the record much technical testimony as to the general course of business in the land office. This line of questioning proved tedious. In fact, the attack of "spring fever" appeared to strike everyone connected with the investigation. Chairman Nelson was absent and Vice Chairman McCall had difficulty in keeping a quorum together. Several spectators fell asleep. The absence of so many of the committee prevented a ruling on the request of Brande's that he be allowed to defer his cross examination of subordinate officials of the Interior department until he has an opportunity to question Ballinger himself. A decision will probably be reached Friday.

Brande's drew from Finney the statement that in a memorandum submitted to the attorney general with the request for an interpretation of the new Alaska coal lands law of 1908, the Cunningham claims already were accepted.

"Then why," asked the attorney, does Ballinger say in his letter to Miles G. Moore, one of the Cunningham claimants that he was referring the matter to the attorney general?

"I didn't write that letter," he replied.

"But didn't you say yesterday you wrote it?"

"I said I wrote two of the letters that were sent to Governor Moore. I was mistaken as to this one. This is not one I wrote."

"Finney, does the attorney general in his report to the president mention the fact that Mr. Hoyt, special counsel for the government, calls on him at Glavis' suggestion in connection with the importance of this opinion?"

"I don't believe he does."

Attorney Pepper had not concluded his cross examination when the committee adjourned. He asked the witness particularly about Ballinger's replies written to La Follette asking for an explanation of certain restoration of waterpower sites made by Ballinger. Finney said he wrote these letters. He denied he had specifically consulted Ballinger as to what he should say.

"Mr. Finney," said Pepper, "why didn't you say to your replies that the real reason for the restoration was the fact that Ballinger did not believe the withdrawals had been legal?"

"Because there had been a conference at the White House and Ballinger decided to re-withdraw the lands."

"Then you tried to make your replies harmonize with these differences?"

"No, it was not that exactly."

Efforts were made to get John W. Dudley, formerly connected with the land office at Juneau, on the stand late today. Dudley has been brought all the way from Alaska to testify as to the alleged offer of $5,000 from Collier's Weekly to come to Washington to testify against Ballinger. When the opportunity came to sandwich Dudley in while Finney was temporarily excused, the witness had left the room and his examination was put over till next week.

KILLS WIFE AND SUICIDES.
LOS ANGELES, April 16.—O. P. Meese, a bad debt collector, killed his wife and put a bullet through his own brain. She was employed by her mother, Mrs. Murray La Palme, who conducts a bath establishment. It is said the two quarreled because Meese objected to this, and wished her to devote her time to domestic affairs.
